

Your Wheel of Life!

YOUR NAME: _____

TODAY'S DATE: _____

EXAMPLE

COMPLETE THE WHEEL:

1. Review the 8 Wheel Categories - think briefly what a satisfying life might look like for you in each area.

2. Next, draw a line across each segment that represents your satisfaction score for each area.

- Imagine the centre of the wheel is 0 and the outer edge is 10
- Choose a value between 1 (very dissatisfied) and 10 (fully satisfied)
- Now draw a line and write the score alongside (see example above)

IMPORTANT: Use the FIRST number (score) that pops into your head, not the number you think it should be!

Your Wheel of Life!

The Wheel of Life

Detailed Instructions:

1. Review the 8 categories on your Wheel of Life. The categories should together create a view of a balanced life for you. If necessary, you can split category segments to add in something that is missing, or re-label an area to make it more meaningful for you. Examples of changes are:
 1. Family and Friends: Split "Family and Friends" into separate categories.
 2. Significant Other: Changing the category name to "Dating", "Relationship" or "Life Partner".
 3. Career: Changing the category name to "Motherhood", "Work", "Business" or "Volunteering".
 4. Finances: Changing the category name to "Money", "Financial Security" or "Financial Wellbeing".
 5. Health: The category name could be split or changed to "Emotional", "Physical", "Fitness", "Spiritual" or "Wellbeing".
 6. Home Environment: The category could split or change to "Work Environment" for career or business clients.
 7. Fun & Leisure: The category name could change to "Recreation"
 8. Personal Growth: The category name could change to "Learning", "Self-Development" or "Spiritual"
 9. Other categories to add could include "Security", "Service", "Leadership", "Achievement" or "Community".
2. Think about what success or satisfaction would feel like for each area.
3. Rank your level of satisfaction with each area of your life by drawing a line across each segment. Place a value between 1 (very dissatisfied) and 10 (fully satisfied) against each area to show how satisfied you are currently with each category.
4. The new perimeter of the circle represents your Wheel of Life. Ideally, the wheel is running smoothly. Looking at your wheel and imagining this wheel on your car, how would the ride feel? Smooth or bumpy?
5. Looking at the wheel:
 1. How do you feel about your life as you look at your Wheel?
 2. How do you currently spend time in these areas? How would you like to spend time in these areas?
 3. What would make that a score of 10?
 4. What would a score of 10 look like?
 5. Which of these categories would you most like to improve?
 6. How could you make space for these changes in your life?
 7. What help and support might you need from others to make changes and be more satisfied with your life?
 8. What change should you make first? And what change do you want to make first?
 9. If there was one key action you could take that would begin to bring everything into balance, what would it be?
6. Taking action – this is where a coach can be very helpful. Identifying the challenge areas is one thing, but really taking steps to improve those areas of your life that are the most difficult takes a partner who can help you see things clearly, plan the changes you want to make, and then hold you accountable for making those changes.
